Hannah celebrates holidays at home

Girl who received new heart in May is back home on south side

Charles Flecher

There's nothing quite like celebrating the holidays at home with family.

No one knows that better the Hannah Robertson.

The 15-year-old south side girl spent Christmas at home unwrapping presents with her parents and older brother.

She got a lot of things from her wish list.

But nothing could compare to the gift she received earlier this year.

In May Hannah underwent heart transplant surgery at the University of Iowa Hospital and Clinics in Iowa City.

GOLD RUSH MAROON OUT

WELCOME TO OUR MESS!

The mess and construction that caused havoc on our lives.

The construction didn't actually begin until after second semester but the hallway drama was happening when students arrived in August. Some student's lockers were relocated and teachers had to move their classrooms to different parts of the building. We had to pack into smaller hallways and we were locked out of large parts of the school. It's just the beggining of our massive renovation project.

LOOKING BACK
A MESSAGE FROM YOUR PRINCIPAL

Mr. Albert Graziano

The opportunity to serve as your Principal has been an honor and a trust. I know a little bit about graduating from Lincoln because I am a proud graduate (Class of 1960), my father graduated from Lincoln (1935) and my son and daughter are both graduates of Lincoln (1984 and 1986). I attended my own forty-fifth Lincoln Class Reunion last summer and the years melted away as we reminisced about "our" years at Lincoln. You have that experience ahead of you as you join the graduates before you, who, as Alumni have distinguished themselves in their chosen fields, raised families, and look back fondly on their years at Lincoln where memories are found around every corner.

Your memories started in the Lincoln Auditorium on Wednesday, August 20, 2002 at 9:00 a.m. The event was Freshmen Orientation. We covered a lot of information that morning and tried to tell you what high school was all about. You probably had some ideas of your own about school and life and may have wondered if we adults could relate to you. Some of my best memories of your class are the times in the hallways, the classrooms, the cafeteria, and at school events when we visited and exchanged small talk. Your talents on stage, at contest, and on the athletic fields always amazed and impressed me. You attended school, worked at jobs, and still found time for school activities. I greeted many of you at 9:00 and 10:00 p.m. at night and you were still at school practicing and rehearsing. You learned that success involved hard work and long hours. You also learned from tragedy in the loss of classmates that none of us could have foreseen. You responded in ways that were strikingly beautiful, impressive, and beyond your young ages. You supported one another, balanced personal feelings of grief and loss, and carried on with your lives. Throughout your years at Lincoln you have been preparing yourselves for the expected and the unexpected events of life. It is our hope that in ways small and large, your Lincoln High educational experience will play a major role in your lives.

The yearbook will serve as a record of your years at Lincoln. Years from now, it will continue to be a source of memories as the pages of photos and facts take you back in time and attest to your school spirit, pride, and perseverance.

This yearbook will serve as a recordof your years at Lincoln. Years from now, it will continue to be a source of memories as the pages of photos and facts take you back in time and attest to your school spirit, pride, and perseverance.

We congratulate the Class of 2006 and wish you the best in the years to come.

We will meet again my friend,
A hundred years from today
Far away from where we lived
And where we used to play.

We will know each others' eyes
And wonder where we met
Your laugh will sound familiar
Your heart I won't forget.

We will meet I'm sure of this,
But let's not wait till then...
Let's take a walk beneath the stars
And share this world again.

Ron Atchison

It's all about the firsts. First grandchild on either side. I witnessed his first steps. First fishing outing with Papa Joe--he had his secret fishing hole. First Horseshoe, badmitten and croquet games. First cooking lesson. He loves to cook. His first airplane ride. It was a disaster. His first rodeo. His first concert at the fair. The many trips with Granny, who always got lost, but he knew our way back. We love you and are very proud of you.

They say with "the first one"
You make all your mistakes
So surely the last of 5 in line
Should really take the cake!

Well, you took that cake
And you're eating it too!
You're on your way to doing
Everythig you've wished to do.

You have worked so hard
To fulfill your dreams
And I know it's not been easy
From a family with our means.

I'm happy yet I'm sad
To be graduating our last
It's amazing to me
How the time has quickly passed!

From Dad and Casey
Billy and Emily
Laura and Margie
And me, especially!

We are very proud of you
And you should be too
Congratulations, Booger! All my Love,

Blondie,

It was just yesterday Daddy was rubbing and patting you on the bottom to put you to sleep while calling you his little wiggleman pig. I also recall you getting in trouble and telling him you needed a hug--that was your way of saying don't be mad at me. I can also remember you taking on the roll of mom when the twins came along. You also liked to be the teacher in the classroom.

You have grown into a wonderful young woman and God has blessed you with a lot of things. Always be happy and never settle for anything. Always do your best as we know you always have been. We are very proud. We all love you very much.

God has always been with you, from the day you were born--born 8 weeks early, and the doctors said you might not be born alive--until today. Look how far you've come! You were born in Nebraska and you have always wanted to go back. As you graduate, look back and see how far God has brought you. Don't only look back, but look forward. As you are returning to Nebraska to go to college, just remember that God will always be with you.

Joe,
When you came along we found out the true meaning of what a "bouncing baby boy" is! Thanks for all the homerun baseballs and trophies, the buzzer beater baskets and the touchdowns. It was so much fun we wish we could do it again! As you step into your future we know that everything you have experienced throughout your life has prepared you for this moment. God bless you, son, we love you!

The two of you have had heads spinning since you were born. People still take a second look when they see the two of you together. I know from time to time both of you may not enjoyed having a twin brother. I also believe there have been times when you were thankful for having a close brother. As you grow and move apart, you will always have a best friend. I love you both and am very proud of each of you!

From the day your were born, we knew you were special. Interested in your surroundings, you barely closed those big brown eyes for naptime, too busy taking in the world around you. You have made us proud. We know you will be successful in life's exciting journey, thanks in part to older brother, Nick, and all of your wonderful extended family. We love you loads. Hugs and kisses and congrats!

Chris Madden

Congratulations Chris, we knew you could do it. This picture sums up the last eighteen years, food in one hand, drink in another and the just woke up look. You have grown up so much in the last few years, it is hard to believe that you will be moving on into the next stage of your life. Remember to take one day at a time and that no matter what you decide to do once you get the vision, you will be able to accomplish it. Of course, then you will be able to buy your own food, drink and where you were staying.
Love, Mom, Dad, Kelly and Buddy

Do you remember asking Santa for two swords? How about playing the toy guitar with a pirates hat and cowboy boots? Then there were the flat tops you used to get a P.D.'s. boy, what a difference that was from your hair dos of late. We remember it all. Keep your infectious smile, it is contagious. Keep an open mind, stand up straight and never be afraid to do the right thing.
Love, Mom and Dad

Your life is like a Wild Rose...From the little "rosebud" that came into our lives fourteen years ago, you have blosseomed and grown into a pretty young woman ready to face the world. Like a rose, your life has had it's share of thorns but you haven't let them get in your way. You have grown over the years and learned to love and trust and go after what you want and in some things achieved a lot more than was ever expected. Only you can decide how far you will go. You are eighteen now and the tough journey called life is just beginning, but we know that you will keep reaching for your dreams and not give up.

We are proud of you and we love you,

One of the happiest days of our lives was November 14, 1987.

We were blessed with a grandson who had big eyes and large hands. We knew you were destined to be very special.

As you go through life, you will face many obstacles. Remember, always to be true to yourself and those who depend on you, stay focused and work hard. The world is at your feet. We are so poud of you and love you dearly.

Buckwheat--

Where have the last 18 years gone? We are writing this with mixed emotions--overwhelmed with pride and joy and melancholy with memories. We remember the day you came into our lives, this tiny bald little boy with piercing blue eyes. As a small boy you couldn't get enough of the Ninja Turtles, BB guns, bow and arrows, football and your favorite--baseball. You've pretty much outgrown the Ninja Turtles but baseball is still in your heart. God has given you a great talent, use it to the best of your ability. DO NOT GET DISCOURAGED. Keep your head up and your eyes open. Always believe in yourself and never, ever doubt the love and support of your family. Follow your dreams, never give up and always know how much we love you and how very proud we are to call you our son.

Our hearts fill with pride and our eyes fill with tears as we send you into the future. You are a confident, loving, caring and compassionate young man. As you start the next phase of your life, we wish you great happiness and success. We love you so much.!

I am proud of you, a person of conviction when answers don't come easily. A person of strength when others refuse to believe in you. A person of towering integrity when you are forced to stand in the world alone.

Choose your own lifestyle and don't let others choose it for you. Follow the dreams in your heart. Live according to the truths within yourself. Learn from the past, but do not let it determine your future!

Honey,
Before you were born, you were a hope, a dream, what your mom and I talked about that some day might be. Today you are real and better than I could have hoped for. I hope that you find a way to hang on to the little girl that was independent enough in kindergarden to say, "I like my vegetables and why can't you just let me be?" I am proud of you and the young lady that you have grown to be. Always do your best and remember to be nice. I always love you no matter what.
Daddy

THE PLAYOFF GAME

The play off game was a historic Lincoln event, and it seemed like all of us came out decked in as much Lincoln gear as we could to cheer on our boys till we were hoarse so they knew that we were so proud of the phenomenal season they had had.

The entire cast gathered before the play to get pumped for opening night.

Lights! Camera! Action! The Diviners was a smash hit!

Auditions were held in September and practices were well underway into October. Practices were held nearly everday after school going unitl six or sometimes during "Hellweek" until ten! It was a fantastic production and could be felt from the performance of the family of cast and crew members.

The play was about a disheartened preacher, who happened to come across a challenged young man in a small town. The preacher in time gained the trust of the town and the young man, only to lead the town to misfortune and heartache.

Junior Jadie VanPelt helped prepare Junior Rachel Park to go on stage

Senior Angie Worley on costumes crew was obviously ecstatic

Senior Danielle Brown and Juniors Molly Harper and Caitlin Gill managing the stage

Seniors Molly O'Gara, Spencer Scavo, Hannah Brammer, and Junior Erica Eis

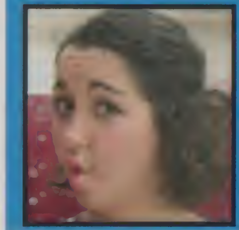
"I've never had so much fun being a gerthy old woman in my life!"

Junior Jana Rector



"Out of all of the plays I've ever been involved with, I'll definitely remember this for my HORRIBLE outfit and the jelly beans backstage (702 more or less. :)!"

Senior Molly O'Gara

"Being on a mainstage play was a great experience - we all have so much fun together!"

Senior Hannah Brammer

"Digging those fake holes in the stage...well it's hard work! It's not so bad, as long as there's hootch...."

Junior Vinnie Clark

"Always fun to play an old Bible-thumper! Everyone was so great and I'll never forget it!"

Junior Erica Eis

"The Diviners was such an amazing experience. Not just the play, but the people involved."

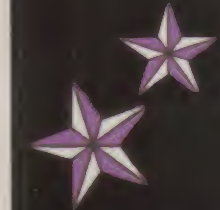
Tattoos. They seem to be popping up all over the school. On arms, backs, hips and feet, there is no denying that us Lincoln kids love to get inked. For some, it is the first of many, others something very special to remember a lost loved one or friend, some big, some small, some gotten on 18th birthdays. We have them for a wide spectrum of reasons. These wonderful, painful, beautiful, parent hating, permanent reminders of the people we were when we were young.



Senior Chris Cutler

"I got the tattoo there because I knew Biz always had my back."

Lincoln in the Spring

The year was rapidly winding to an end but by the look of all the Railsplitters you would have had no idea! They were more involved and busier than ever. So many things were going on. The drama kids toiled away on the spring play (The Twelfth Night), girls and boys soccer were out scoring goals, the show choirs were prepping for their spring show, the newspaper was whipping out their last few issues of The Railspiltter, along with track and tennis--we were almost working too hard and having too much fun to realize it wouldn't be long before the year ended, and a large portion of our friends and classmates would be leaving Lincoln for good.

From a cross-dressing woman, to a drunk fat knight, all topped off with a steward stuffed in a box. The Lincoln High Drama Department did it again! Twelfth Night was a huge success!

Cast, chorus and crew members worked hard from February to April working diligently every day possible to fix the set, work on costumes, and perfect their knowledge of Shakespearean language.

The play was five acts of nothing but fun filled confusion and deceit. It was about a young Countess who falls in love with a cross-dressing woman thinking she was actually a man. Later the Countess' steward is tricked into thinking his Countess is in love with him. From there the play took off with an ending of torment for few, and a happy ending for the rest.

"If this were to be played upon a stage now, it would probably be condemned as improbable fiction."

Lincoln High School's Blurbs

About me:

Talk about a trend. It seemed like EVERYONE at Lincoln in 05 and 06 had a Myspace. It was a pretty sweet way to keep us up to date on what was going on in each other's lives, make new friends, and to stay in touch with the ones we didn't get to see everyday.

It was a once in a lifetime amazing, student organized, event filled with music laughter, food and fun! And there is nothing more fun than just spending time with your friends and loving life! Like Junior Jason Williams put it, "It was sad to see the night end. It really was an end of the year bash. We could see no better way of sending off the year than it was at Railstock. It was an event all its own. It really makes you realize how much you're gonna miss the friends you have and it should stick to the minds of anyone that attended the event. Here's to the night we all attended Railstock. Never Forget."

Outside Of Lincoln

Us Railsplitters are not just about classes, sports and school activities. We have lives outside of Lincoln. We have passions. These are the things that keep us going, these are our hobbies, our interests, our lives. We bike, we rock, we create, we dance, we play. We use our bodies, our voices, our talents, our skills. The kids at Lincoln are a lot more than just kids at Lincoln. We are our own people. And we do stuff.

Academic Decathlon

These students competed with other schools in subject areas that they studied and researched. They had speakers come in and tell them about the topics that they were studying. They took tests and gave interviews and speeches and then they were tested on how well they knew their topics. This year's Academic Decathlon teams made a good showing at the regional testing competion in February at Drake University. There were enough team members during the 2005-2006 academic shcool year to enable Lincoln, for the first time, to enter two seperate teams. The teams were led by captains Carl Davidson and Kyair Butts. Next year's topic will be "China and Its Influences on the World."

THE END TO A GOOD YEAR

Steevo Andrews, Jesse James, Katie Seid, Erika Lang

It is without a doubt that yearbook production class is one of the best classes to take at Lincoln. It is as real life as you can get. You have to play well with others and meet your deadlines. You have to be passionate about representing life here at Lincoln in words and pictures.

It took a few hundred smoothies and bags of trail mix but the 2005-2006 yearbook staff accomplished their responsiblities with smiles on their faces and a clear idea of how rewarding a job well done can feel. Godspeed to our seniors, you will be missed.
